

Nicole Kroeger- Copyright 1988

Valeska in Braids

Summertime.

Children who previously had to be called out of bed for school suddenly awoken at dawn to run outside and play.

Although a breakfast usually was hastily eaten, the hair often never saw a brush in the morning!

Thank God for childhood...

the excitement and sense of time standing still must be a small taste of heaven.